

Zone Change Hearing Held In Wilmington

Tuesday, May 7, in the Wilmington City offices, a hearing on zone changes in the city strip was held.

The parcel of land considered for possible zone change is the area on the north side of 218th st., between Western ave. and a line 450 feet easterly thereof. Its depth is 134 feet from 218th st.

At present it is zoned commercially and for auto parking. Planners are requesting that it be re-zoned to C-2 (commercial) on the West 200 ft. only and the balance re-zoned R-3 (residential).

A decision should be made within the next two weeks.

MESS CALL

Cub Scouts from Torrance pack 222 and adults were guests aboard the anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Princeton, docked in Long Beach. Here they enjoy a noon meal on board before touring the ship.

CUB SCOUTS TOUR USS PRINCETON

Twenty-eight Cub Scouts of Pack 222 and 11 adults from Torrance were guests aboard the giant anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Princeton (CVS-37) recently.

The Cubs in military manner marched up the Princeton gangway, saluted the colors and the officer-of-the-deck and in Naval manner requested permission to come aboard the ship.

The first event aboard the naval vessel for the Scouts was a meal in the crew's mess hall. Afterwards they began touring the big ship. Probably the most enjoyable event for them and the one they will most remember is their ride on the giant aircraft elevator to the flight deck. After touring the flight deck the Cubs climbed the many ladders to the bridge area where they viewed the instruments and equipment needed to operate the ship. They saw the spot where Captain John L. Chitterden, commanding officer of the Princeton, directs operations of the vessel when at sea.

Returning to the hangar deck via the elevator, the Cub Scouts assembled in ranks and in military manner and under the commands of their Pack Leader, Danny Reyes, marched to the after brow, saluted the officer-of-the-deck, requested permission to leave the ship, and returned home.

The Princeton is currently engaged in operations out of her new home port of Long Beach, California.

EL CAMINO ART CLASS IS UNIQUE

Among the unique classes available to students in the art department at El Camino College is advanced watercoloring, offering weekly excursions to numerous points of interest for practical experience in landscape painting.

An unusual phase of the course is the fact that it meets on Saturdays. Under the direction of El Camino art instructor Donald C. Green, the group of 22 students holds a four-hour class meeting weekly. According to Green, the group is allotted three hours to do its painting work. The final hour is spent in worthwhile criticism.

Samples of the work of this interesting class will be displayed as part of an art department presentation during El Camino's annual Open House May 10 and 12. The two-day event will offer exhibits in various campus phases and activities from 7 to 10 p.m. on Friday and from 2 to 5 on Sunday afternoon.

Green, who has been on the college faculty since its origin ten years ago, is among the versatile instructors on campus. In addition to advanced watercolor, he teaches beginning watercolor and beginning drawing.

Green began at El Camino, however, as a speech teacher and as head of the dramatic department. He later branched out into English and was instrumental in instituting remedial reading courses at El Camino. He has also taught art appreciation and art instruction.
